THE WEEK BETWEEN LESSONS

A lesson is one hour. The other six days decide how it goes.

Material in five places

PDFs in email, YouTube links in a chat, the tempo on a sticky note.

No view of the week

You find out what happened when the lesson starts, with “Did you practice?”

Stuck until next time

A question on Tuesday waits until the next lesson for an answer.

Slips stay quiet

A student drifting away shows up as a cancelled lesson.

Musician Log puts the practice week where you can see it, and gives your students everything they need to do it.

WHAT MUSICIAN LOG IS

One place for you and your students

YOU GET

- A library for your material: sheet music, TAB, videos, audio and PDFs
- Assignments with a due date and a note
- Chat with each student, plus a studio room
- Alerts when work is done, overdue or a student joins
- Progress reports: minutes, practice days, tempos and confidence

YOUR STUDENT GETS

- Your assignments on their phone
- A practice timer, metronome and tuner built in
- An Ask button on every assignment
- Their own progress, the same view you see
- A small space of their own: 1 section and 2 snippets

Works in any browser on phone, tablet and computer, and installs on the home screen like an app.

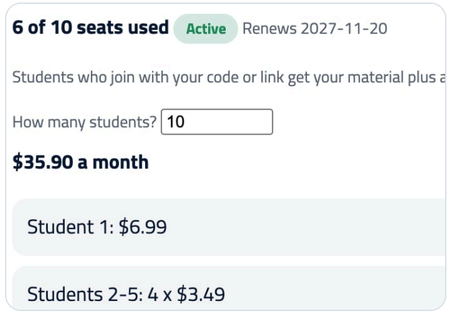

HOW IT WORKS

Four steps from sign-up to your first report

Start free

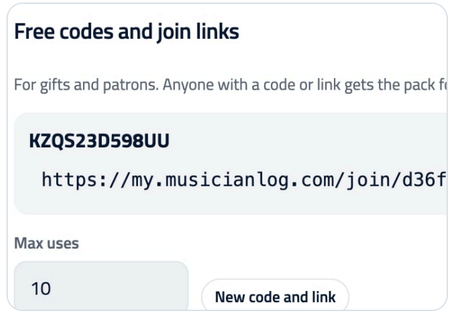

Your Pro plus a seat per student, free for 14 days.

Send your link

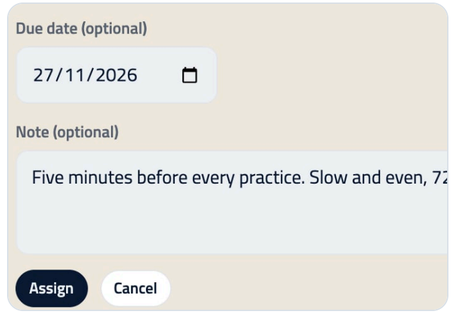

Students open your join link or type your code, then sign in free.

Assign practice

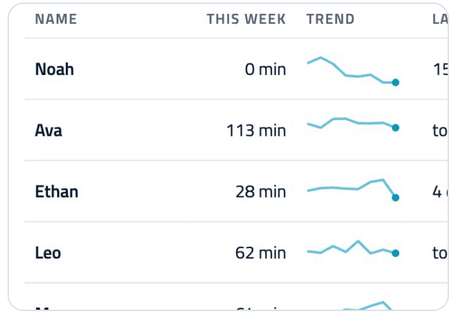

Pick snippets or practice sessions, add a due date and a note.

See how it went

Minutes, practice days, tempos and what is overdue, for each student.

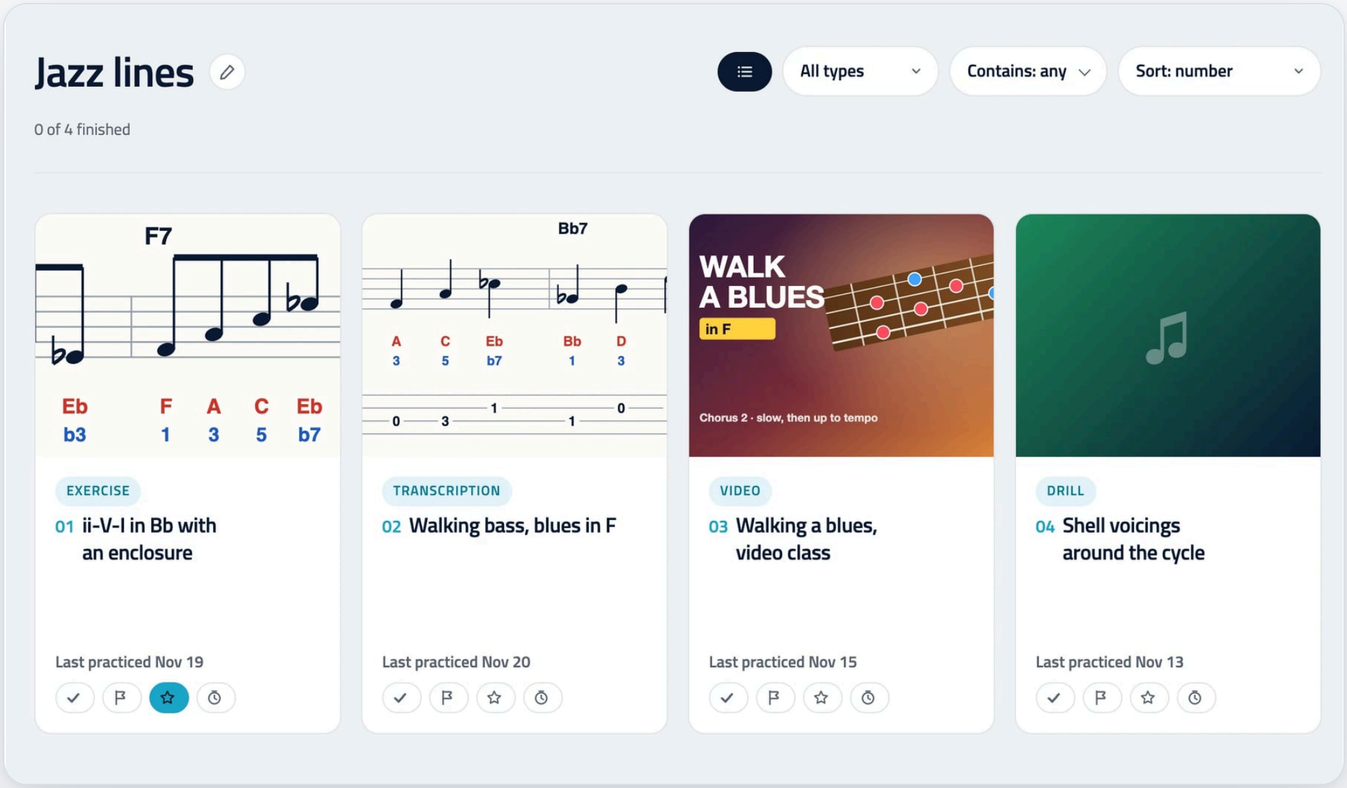

The studio guide on pages 9 to 14 walks through each step with screenshots.

YOUR LIBRARY

Everything a lesson uses, in one place

Each piece of material is a snippet: one exercise, line, song or study with everything that goes with it. You file them in sections you name.

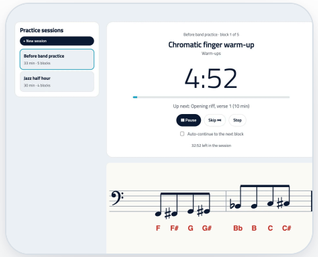

- Sheet music, TAB, PDFs, audio and video
- YouTube with a loop and slow-down
- iReal Pro charts and Guitar Pro files
- Eight types: lesson, exercise, etude, song, drill and more

A section of snippets. Guitar, bass, piano, voice, horns, strings or drums: it works the same.

PRACTICE TOOLS

What your students need to practice, built in

Practice sessions

Line up snippets, give each its minutes. The timer moves on by itself and logs every block.

Tuner

Chromatic, with presets for common instruments. The microphone runs only while it is on.

Metronome

Accents, a voice count, and a tempo that climbs as they improve.

Setlists and stage view

Songs in order for the recital or gig, read from a clean full-screen view.

AI NOTATION ANALYZER · PRO

Note names, degrees and TAB, drawn on your page

Upload a photo or PDF of printed notation. The analyzer writes the note names, the scale degree against each chord, and bass and guitar TAB under the staff.

An honest note: AI can make mistakes or miss parts. Clean printed pages work best. You see the result before it is saved, so check it before a student does.

p. 10 Invite your students

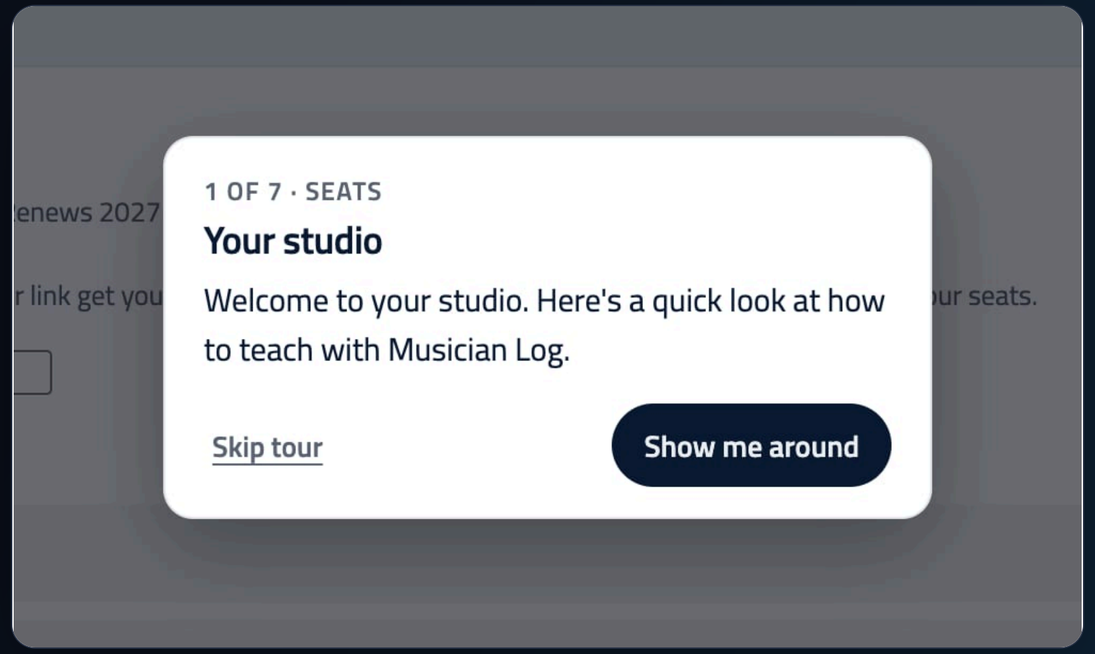

p. 11 Assign practice

p. 12 Chat and questions

p. 13 The bell

p. 14 Progress reports

p. 15 What your student sees

A guided tour starts the first time you open your studio. Replay it anytime from Settings.

STEP 1 OF 6

Start your 14 free days

1. On musicianlog.com/pricing, open the Teachers card, type how many students, and tap Start your 14 free days.
2. Sign in or sign up, then add a card at checkout. Your own Pro is included.
3. Open My studio from your profile menu. That is your home as a teacher.

> Nothing is charged before day 15. Cancel before then and you pay nothing. Change the number of students anytime.

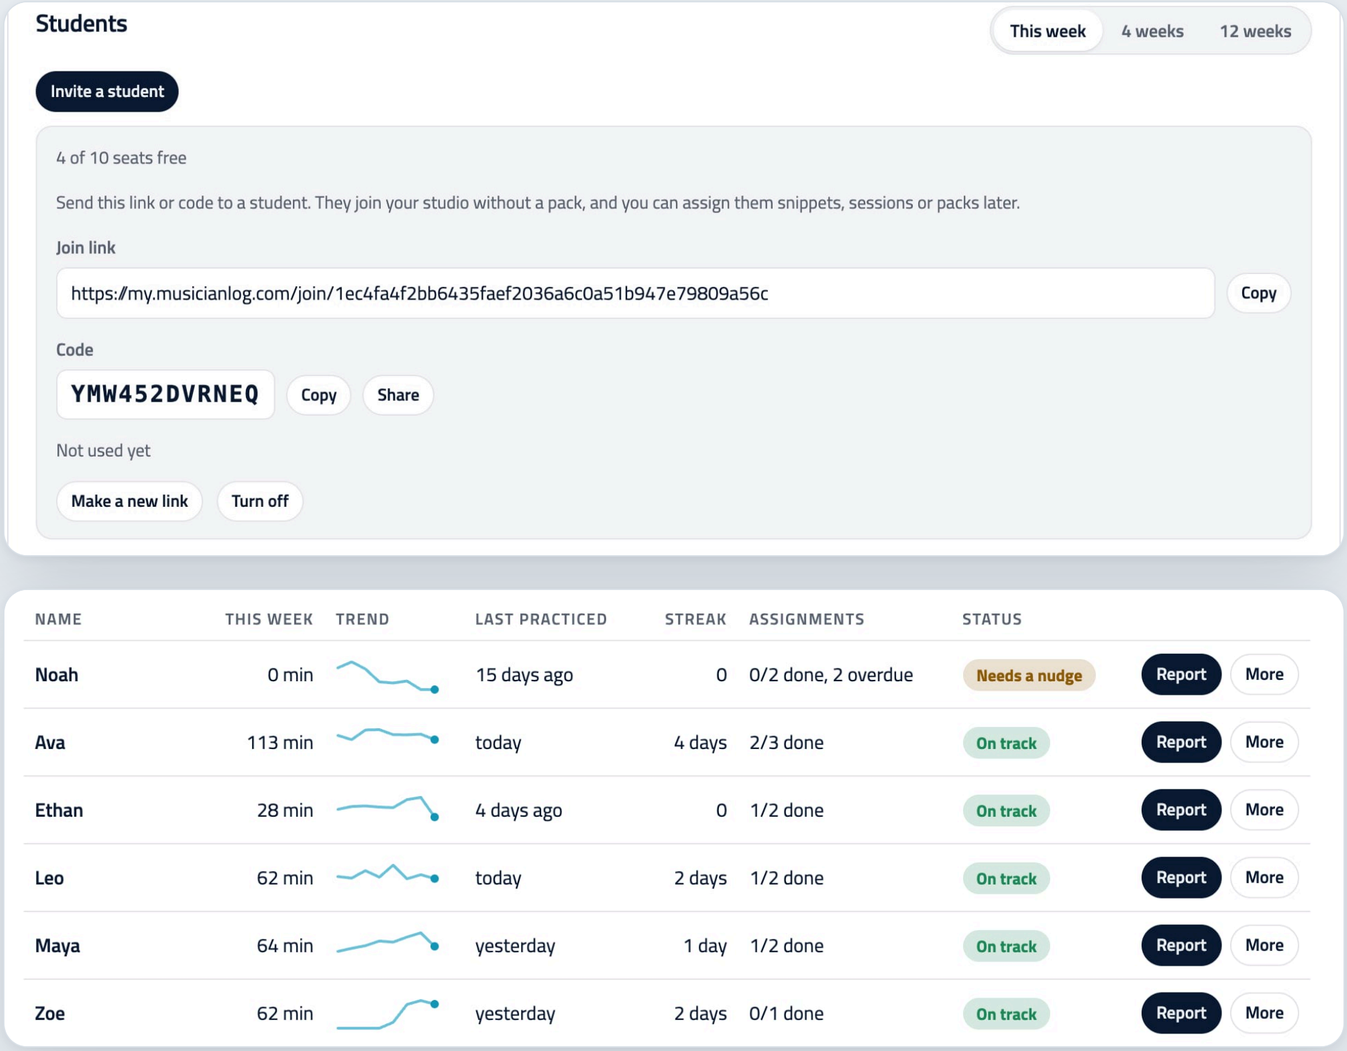

Your Seats card shows what you use and what you pay, band by band.

STEP 2 OF 6

Invite your students

1. In My studio, on Students, tap Invite a student.
2. Copy the join link or the code, or tap Share on your phone.
3. Send it by email or message. The student opens it, signs in or creates a free account, and joins your studio.

> Each student who joins uses one seat. No pack is needed: assign snippets, sessions or a pack afterwards. A pack's own code works too, and gives that pack.

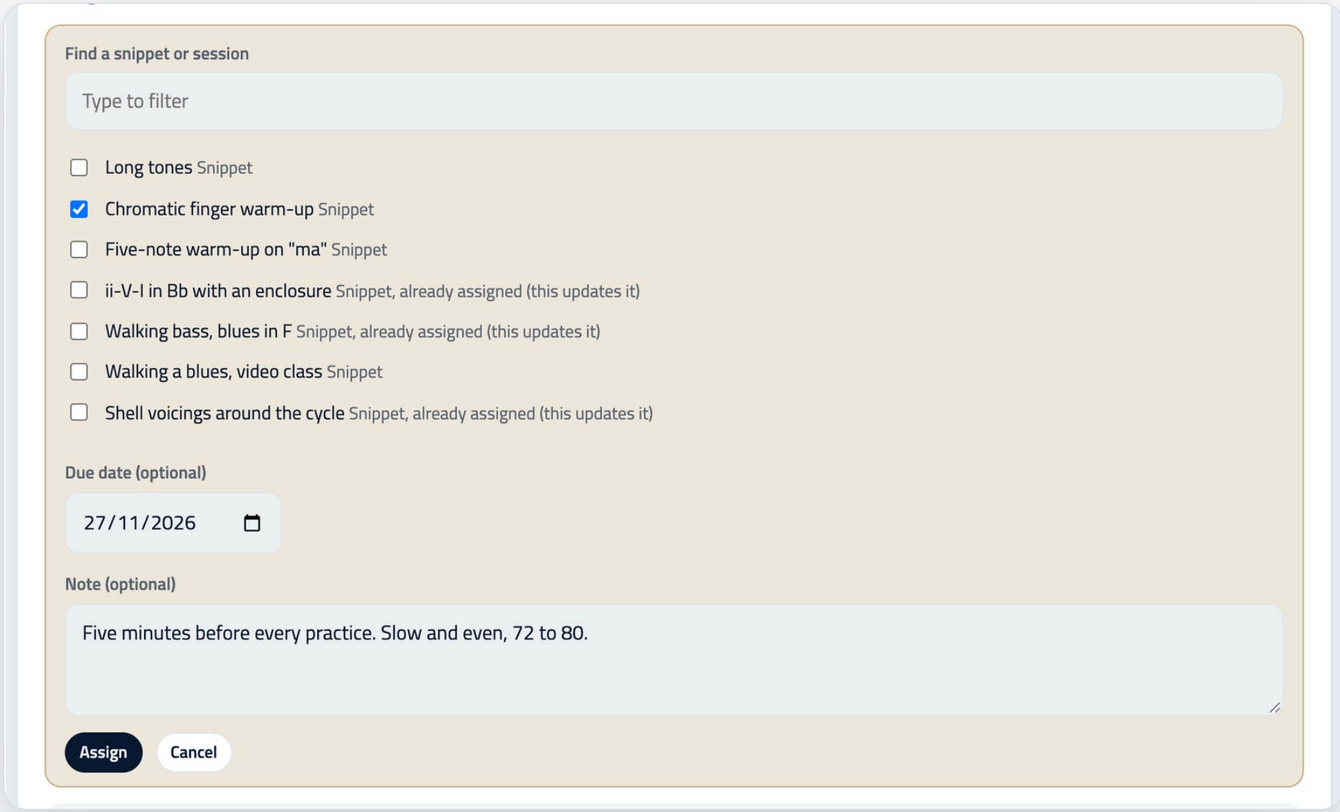

STEP 3 OF 6

Assign this week's practice

1. Open a student's report and press Assign.
2. Tick snippets or practice sessions, add a due date and a note on what to focus on.
3. It appears on the student's phone under From your teacher. They mark it done when they have it.

> Each assignment shows the minutes practiced since you set it, and whether it was done on time.

STEP 4 OF 6

Answer questions the day they come up

1. The chat button at the bottom right opens a conversation with each student, plus a studio room for everyone.
2. When a student presses Ask on a snippet, the question arrives with that snippet linked.
3. Reply with text, a voice clip or a photo. Seen tells you it was read.

STEP 5 OF 6

Let the bell tell you what changed

The bell at the top of every page collects what needs your eye:

- A student finished an assignment
- An assignment is overdue
- A question about one of your snippets
- A student joined or left your studio

> Choose what you hear about in Settings, Notifications. Alerts can reach your phone too.

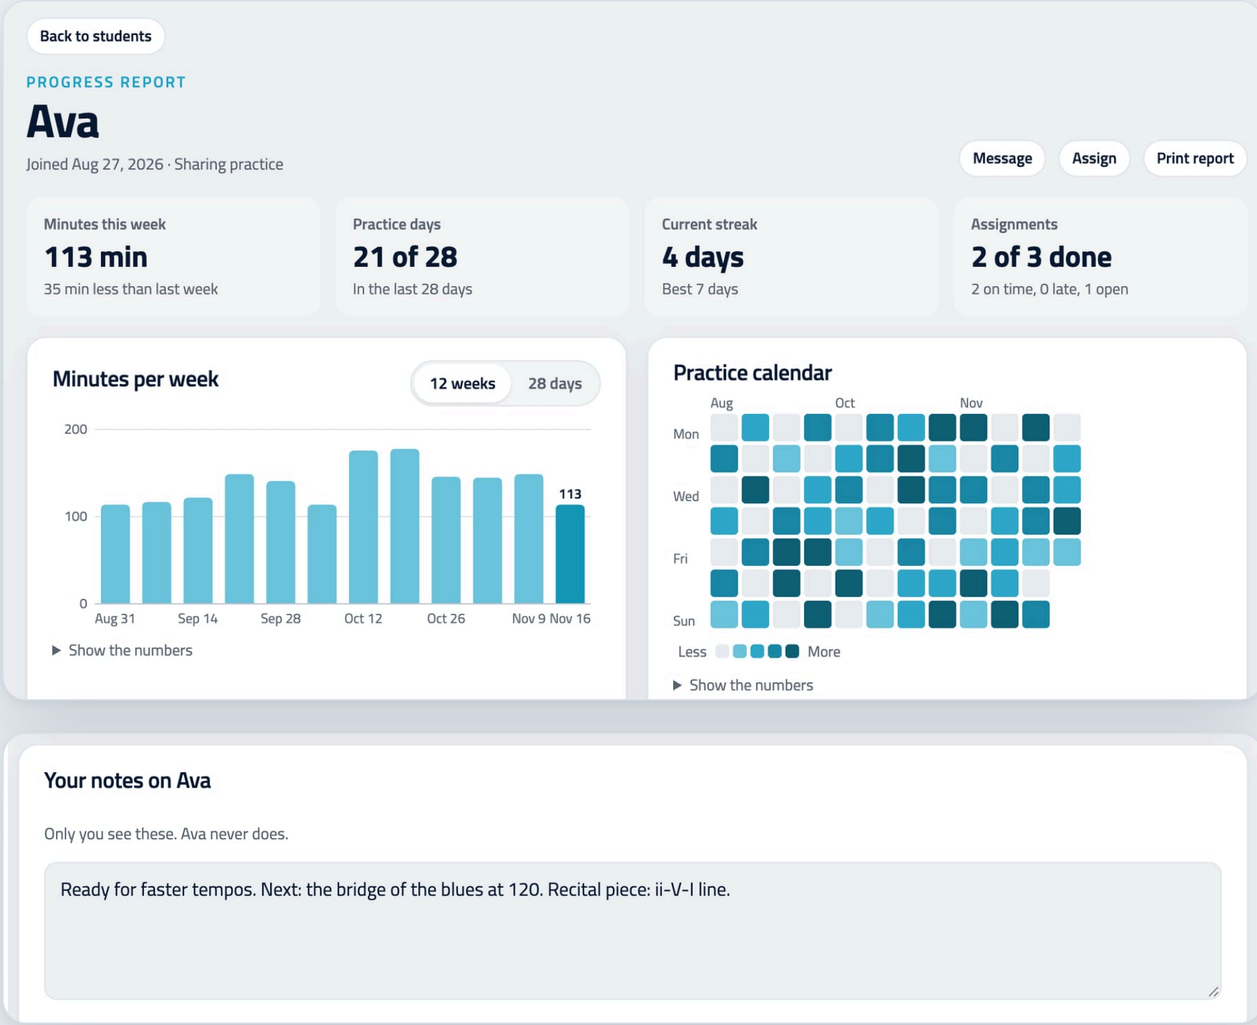

STEP 6 OF 6

See the week before the lesson

1. My studio opens on the class overview: minutes this week, a 12-week chart, and who is on track or needs a nudge.
2. Report on any student shows practice days, tempo trend, confidence and assignments done on time or late.
3. Keep private notes on each student, and Print report for a parent or a lesson file.

> A short summary of your class arrives every Monday.
